

Four spots with amazing scenery

THE Hong Kong Observatory recently announced 10 places in Hong Kong of outstanding scenery. You may not expect some of them, but they might actually be pleasantly surprising. Here are four sites worth visiting:

Number One:

Aircraft Maintenance Area

YOU might think this is an industrial area, but there is a large nature spot and a nice spot to watch the sunset. There is also a long pier that stretches out into the sea – perfect to see the planes coming in to land.

Number Two:

Tai Lam

THE sunsets here are beautiful, and if you look across the sea, you can see the Brothers Point Terminal Doppler Weather Radar Station. There, you can watch the sun set behind the mountain in the distance.

Number Three:

Tai Po Kau Tide Station

IF you like cycling, the station is quite easy to get to by bicycle. And if you like the sea, you will love the view because it is surrounded by it on all three sides. There is also a nice resting place in the shade from the many trees in the area.

Number Four:

The Hong Kong Observatory App

THE HK Observatory is playing a little trick on us! The app already has tons of photos, and you can definitely find a beautiful spot from browsing through the many photos. The app is very informative and fun.

Judy
S.K.H. Yan Laap Memorial Primary School

I love the suggestions from the Hong Kong Observatory!

Where is the Hong Kong Observatory located?
A. Central
B. Tsim Sha Tsui
C. Mong Kok

Answers on P2

pleasantly (adv) 愉快
industrial (adj) 工業的

shade (n) 陰

radar (n) 雷達

browse (v) 瀏覽

informative (adj) 提供資訊的